Please read at citizens to be heard.

I understand Evan Bohl will lead a march today for ethics. How can someone that has a $ 11,000.00 fine from the Texas Ethics Commission complain about the city council removing a bad ethics ordinance. His fine is in regards to him running in the Democrat primary.

I would like to see the city council develop a simple ethics ordinance that cannot be politicized like the previous one.

Good Evening Mayor, Councillors and Citizens of Leon Valley,
In a previous letter that was forbidden to be read, I pointed out that the thin blue line flags, decals patches etc are in violation of the flag code and an actual insult to the citizens of Leon Valley showing that police officers are not there to serve the citizens, but to serve themselves.

I would like to suggest an agenda item that bans the use of blue line insignia on any public property in Leon Valley, which includes vehicles, uniforms etc, and also that any tattoos be covered whilst a public employee is on duty.

Yours sincerely

Lady Monica Greeno

PS will the citizens to be heard email address be available soon?

Please read at citizens to be heard tonight. Preferably, by Dr. Edwards as he is very well spoken.

I am Jack Miller. I live in San Antonio, Texas. I am the owner of a business called TXSHEEPDOG72 on YouTube. I operate in Leon Valley.

Evan Bohl, who is running for Leon Valley city council, has expressed he is in favor of bringing back the ethics review board process.

I say NO to that idea. We need to put the ethics board idea out to pasture because we already have ways to deal with issues.

If an employee violates a policy, it is easily addressed using the progressive corrective action policies that already exists within the cities policies.

If an elected official is in violation of something, or engaging in misconduct, we use the tried and true method of recall elections and other powers the people have to remedy the issue. Keep the power over elected officials in the voters hand. All of the voters. Not just a select small group.
